

Tina Begay
Bio

Tina earned a Master's in Business Administration (M.B.A) from The University of Montana. Tina owns Redtail Enterprises, LLC, a business consulting and accounting services company. The company specializes in nonprofit accounting procedures and bookkeeping (fiscal, finance, budgeting, reporting, and management).

Redtail offers an all-in-one virtual nonprofit CFO service with an affordable, flat monthly fee. All services are performed remotely by our dedicated team of nonprofit accountants with oversight from experienced CPAs.

Tina started the company to serve nonprofits struggling with maintaining timely and accurate financial records. She has worked exclusively with 501(c)(3) and other tax-exempt organizations over the past 25+ years. Tina has excellent working knowledge of accounting procedures and principles. She prepares essential business documents, including a full set of financial statements for monthly, quarterly, an annual reporting. Her specialty is meticulous grant management and reporting. During her career in nonprofit financial management, she has experience with tribal, federal, state, and local grant management. She has managed grants from ANA, BIA, ONAA, and much more.

Her expertise in developing budgets and cash flow forecasting is excellent. She has extensive experience with appropriate tax reporting. She has extensive experience leading strategic planning and development sessions. Her knowledge and proven ability to oversee a wide array of business affairs is unprecedented.

Tina serves as Treasurer for the Friends Forever Mentoring Board of Directors. Tina is Navajo; she is born for the Water's Edge and Salt Clans from Rock Point, Arizona. Tina currently resides in Montana on the Flathead Indian Reservation. Tina has five beautiful children and ten grandchildren. Tina enjoys beading, sewing, and camping.
